Ore carrying free gold that assays as high as $30,000 a ton has been done to demonstrate the value of the find. H. T. Brown, one of the discoverers, calls attention to the interesting fact that the rich gold ore was found within a few feet of the spot where Gen. Grant camped in 1851, during the two days he was president of the Cafion Delagua Copper Company. The scratching of the surface would have revealed the bonama and probably would have made the Grant family millionaires.

REPORT ON BIG TREE PARKS. Capt. West Makes Some Wise

Recommendations to the Government.

WASHINGTON, Oct 7.—Capt. Frank West of the Sixth Cavalry, acting superintendent of the Sequoia and Gen. Grant National Parks in California, has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior. The first of these parks is the larger, containing, it is estimated, from 1800 to 3000 of the mammoth Sequoia trees for which California is noted. Capt. West says for the benefit of the public, as the best route for reaching 's giant forest is not generally known, that the proper point at which to leave the railway is at Visalia, Tulare county, Cal. Thence there is a good road through the parklike country to the Kawesh River, and leading thence through the Ash Mountains into the park. The park itself is on a high tablesand from 6300 to 7500 feet in attitude, and commands a view of some of the most magnificent mountain scenery in the world. He recommends in some detail the extension of the park boundaries to take in a portion of this mountain tract, eastward to Mount Whittiey and the main Stevra divide, and sorthward to take in the Kings River Caños.

This section, Capt. West says, exceeds in beauty and grandeur anything to be found in Switzerland, and is a part of the public domain unfitted for agriculture, but of importance as a game preserve and to conserve the

Mrs. Woodman was rooming with Mrs. Stone and after taking the box ashe burled all of its contents, except the bank book, in Golden Gate Park. Then she fied to Port Townsend and from there went to Seattle. Failing in an effort to draw on the Hibernia account through the First National Bank of Seattle, she left the Sound cities and came back to San Francisco, to be met by officers and placed under arrest. At dirst denying her guilt, the woman finally confessed. She was taken to the park today and after searching awhile she came upon the mound that marked the cache of the stolen property. Tearing excitedly at the loose earth with her fingers, she brought the treasures to light and turned them over to Detective Hammill.

Dare, defaulting president of the National Bank of San Diego, Cal., and the Cheyenne National Bank, is now president of the principal street railway in Alexandria, Egypt. A German traveler who knows him intimately discovered Dare on a recent visit to Alexandria. He learned that Dare had been there several years; that he stockholder in the Alexandria street railway and was posing as a prominent citizen.

Dare came to Cheyer from Pennsylvania during the boom days of the range cattle business and made money rapidly. In 1888 he became a stockholder and vicepresident of the Cheyenne National Bank and a year later organized the National Bank of San Diego. He made a plunge in real estate here and when values declined unloaded his holdings on two

Before taking charge of the Califorina bank, of which he was president, Dare married handsome Miss Emily Cronkelton of Crested Butte, Colo. (BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.-Y.M.)

SCRANTON (Pa.) Oct. 7.—Now that a convention to conside the 16 percent. offer is assured, attention is turned to what the companies mean by a 10 percent. increase to the miner and his helper.

The miner works by contract and pays the laborers out of his earnings. As a rule the miner cuts six loads of coal for which he gets $6.38. Out of this the pays for powder, oil and repairs for tools, and the wages of his helper. The laborer's pay is fixed at so much perday, and in this region it averages about $1.75. After paying the expenses the miner has about $2.30 left for himself. Ten per cent. advance gives the miner $3 cents extra per day. The laborer wants his 10 per cent. of the 10 per cent., and as a rule the miner must be content with $6 cents, or 7 per cent. But in many instances a miner has two helpers. This means that 36 cents must comeout of his $6 cents, and the miner finds himself enjoying an advance of only 5 per cent.

finds himself enjoying an advance of only 5 per cent.

Just how the operators want this offer interpreted is not known here. The local operators say that the men who framed the offer either did not have in mind the miner pays the laborer, or else having it in mind, figured the laborer out of consideration altogether, left it for the miner and laborer to settle among themselves which portion of the 10 per cent, the laborer would receive. The laborers will not, it is thought, be content with anything less than a full 10 per cent, raise, and it is this which is thought will cause a hitch when the convention comes together.

Waiters' Strike at West Point.

WEST POINT (N. Y.,) Oct. 7.—Twenty-two waiters in the cadet mess stopped work just before the dinner last night and demanded a raise of 55 per month in their salaries. Maj. Hall, treasurer of the commissary departments acceded. A strike is also pending in the two other departments. The grievances are based upon the recent increase in the number of cadets, which naturally makes additional work for the civilian employés. The old scale for the mess hall waiters was $20 per month, with rations.

NAVAJOES IN COURT.

District Court has adjourned. The principal case of interest was that of the Indians indicted for the affray in which Montgomery was killed and Deputy Sheriff Hogan wounded and several Navajoes killed and wounded. One of the defendants, "To-hi-be-toy," was acquitted by the jury, the evidence plainly showing that the Indians thought the officers were bandits, after their guns and property, and that the officers had not managed to make their mission known at the time they tried to seize the Indians guns. The other Navajo indicted, "Be-go-etin," is 70 years old, a chief of authority. Though shot through the body in the fight and so wounded that he suffers severely even now, he rode all night to be in time for his trial, and appeared in court promptly as ordered, accompanied by an escort of tribesmen. On the return of the jury with the verdict in the other case, the old chief was ordered discharged from custody.

R. R. Coleman, the main contractor on the Santa Fé and Grand Cafion Railway was given judgment against the corporation for $86,674, a part of his claim. Several other suits of the same nature will come before the next term of court, November 9.

Desidario Martinez, who sued the Santa Fé Pacific for $3000, was given a verdict of $35 and costs. Martinez was thrown off a freight train on presenting a trip ticket that had passed its time limit and refusing to pay fare.

The law, passed by the Democrats of the last Legislature, is one of the most unpopular measures ever on the statute books of Arizona, and is opposed by both payries mainly because of the fact, despite laws against election bribery, it undoubtedly adds largely to prediction expense. "Police" Davis and His Gang Much in Dvidence at Vesture—No Restrictions on Gambling.

Faro, rouletts, wheel of fortuna orans, shot machines, stud pokar and other gambling games were running wide open in Ventura during the Street Pair last week. "Pokar" Davis, "Natchar" Hildervain and other professional gamblers were much in evidence. The muscle dances given by "Little Egypt" shocked the good people of Beanville greatily, but the gambling evil did not appear to worry them.

Every selfoon—and there are a good many of them in Ventura—had its complement of gambling devices, and everybody who bucked the tiger, whether winner or loser, was given a check which was good for one drink at the bar. The suboons reaped a rich harvest, but "Pokar" Davis complained about business in his line being a little slow.

As if the opportunities afforded for gambling in Ventura by well established methods were not sufficient, a group of sports at 1 o'clock Sunday morning resorted to the novel expedient of standing on the curb and pitching haif-dollars into the middle of the street, the man whose coin lay hearest a rail of the street-car track taking the pot.

If Ventura excels in beans bables and success in getting up street fairs and street pageants, she may also justly lay claim to being the gamblers' paradise.

ANTI-SALOON AGITATION.

Last night at the University Methodist Church, Rev. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the State Anti-saloon League, addressed a mass meeting of anti-liquor people. Agitation against the saloon, and especially against political candidates favorable to the saloons, is rampant in University. The Good Government Alliance, which was instrumental in stamping out rabbit coursing at Agricultural Park, is again active and is working in the interests of reputable aspirants for public office.

A new pastor has come to the University Methodist Church, in the person of Rev. E. A. Healy, who takes the pulpit so long occupied by Rev. F. M. Larkin. That minister departed some time ago for a year of study and travel, and the Methodist conference has now filled his place. A reception will be tendered the new pastor tomorrow night by his congregation, in the church pariors. ANTI-BALOON AGITATION. will be tenueved the new pairs tomorrow night by his congregation, in the church pariors.

Prof. George A. Cole will lecture in the University chapel Tuesday evening. October 5, at 8:30 o'clock, on "The Clift Dwellers of New Mexico and Arizona."

The recitals given last year by the students of the college of music were pleasing features of university musical affairs. The musicales will be continued this year, being given every second Thursday, beginning October 11 at 4 o'clock, in the University chapel, where the college pipe organ can be used. Admission is only by invitation, and many residents of University Place are applying for places on the invitation list. The concerts are under the direction of Prof. W. P. himpress Theodora wore a cloak embroidered with the "Adoration of the Magi," and rich Senators proudly displayed as many os 600 sacred figures on their robes. It is easy to imagine the delighted curiosity with which the street urchins of Byzantium must have followed such a garment, which in spite of its pictorial elucidation of the miracles, must have been about as graceful as the advertising boards upon the back of the modern itinerant. What wonder that a righteous bishop of the church inveighed against those "who wore the gospels upon their backs instead of in their hearts."

About this time the Emperor Justinian devised an expedient for breaking up the silkworm trust, the Chinese having enjoyed an unbroken monopoly of this industry for mearly twenty centuries. To this end he sent two litinerant Persian monks into China, where they so cunningly evaded the vigilance of the natives that they were able to bring home their hollow staves filled with silkworm eggs. From the rearing of the worms thus craftily brought to Byzantium sprung the European silkworm industry.

During the seventh century the rise of Mussulman power brought a new spirit into waning Byzantime elegance, and as a result the resplendent contumes of the caliphs soon beggared description. The embroiderer's art then extended its province to the exquisite decoration of leather work—boots, saddles, harness and scabbards, as well as the swords and flaggers which they covered, being invisitly decorated by the needleworker. So devoted were the nomadic Arab chieftans to besutiful hangings that they invariably carried with them their superbly-embroidered sents, one of which the famous Haroun-al-Raschid sent to Charlemange in 508.

The adorament of the Kaaba at Mecca naturally brought forth the

In view of such action as this, by leading commercial bodies of the country, it is difficult to see upon the grounds at few people in this section can continue to insist that it will be impossible to interest Congress in the subject of national irrigation of the arid lands. The country is already aroused on the subject and it needs but a little more persistent affect on part of the friends of actional irrigation to take, this great movement out

The deficit in the postal revenues for the past year was $4,494718, which was about a million and a half less than the deficit for the preceding year. We shall have this department on a paying basis, without much doubt, before the close of President McKinley's second term.

(Kansas City Journal:) A man who close of President McKinley's second term.

(State the Chart the Cha An indication of the increasing interest taken by the business men of the country in the national irrigation movement is furnished by an article in the Chicago Evening Post of September 27, which devotes a column to the proceedings of the Executive Committee of the National Business League. The Post opens its article by saying:

"What promises to be one of the greatest undertakings in the history of the country practically found its inception yesterday at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Business League, when resolutions were drawn up and adopted calling upon Congress for an annual appropriation of $250,000 for the reclamation and settlement of arid lands in the West. While it remained for the National Business League to take the first active steps in the matter, that body was not the first to propose such a scheme. That the business interests of the West demand that the millions of acres of public land in the West be developed and that part of the country be allowed thereby to progress in proportion to the East is admitted generally throughout the country."

The Chicago paper goes on to show that favorable action on the matter.

In The Times year and there you are. In The Times year in Missouri, the Nesbit law, will continue to pollute the ballot box until the same thorough remedy is applied.

A dispatch tells of a suicide by hanging, and adds that "despendency is supposed to have been the cause." If this explanation had not been added, the supposition would probably have been that the man hanged himself because of excessive hilarity.

Spiral Globe Lamp.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The incandescent electric lamp, with bulbs of plain glass, has always come in for a least state of the reproach thrown by opticians or nearly all modern methods of lighting, namely, that the intensity of the dazuling light is certain to injure the eyesight. The question of making light more hygienic has, however, occupied much attention of late years, and many shades are now employed to diffuse the rays without implication with said optication with and to intercept the rays of light or ground at is to obtain the same actual illuminating effect without injuring the eyesight.

This is the object of a new invention, which consists of a plain glass bulb surrounded by an envelope composed of a spirally-wound rod of plain glass inclosed within an outer protective plain glass globe. The effect of the combination is tweofolf; for, although the main object, as already stated, is to conceal the filament without loss of light, the result is to increase the effective illumination of the lamp, the spirally-wound glass rod constituting a double convex lens throughout its entire length. This serves so to refract and diffuse the rays, so as not only to entirely conceal the outline of the filament from the eye, but also to throw a larger proportion of the light in the direction in which it is most serviceable. This shade, in fact, and the public.

The Democrats of Winters hit upon a new plan to get a crowd out to listen to their candidates for Congress in the Third Congress District. A traveling specialty company happened to be in town, and was induced to give a free entertainment at the operahouse, with two Democratic speeches sandwiched between the vaudeville acts. The audience enjoyed the leg show immensely.

With reference to the danger of fraud by the personation of voters, it may be said that that danger now exists. The scheme under consideration really diminishes rather than increases it. Under the proposed system there is, of course, no greater and no less chance than there is now of "ne-peating" or of ballot-box stuffing. The qualifications of voters would be ascertained in the present mode, the registry would be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote could be used, and not more than one vote of the death of the could be not have the polls who was not known to the election officers, should prove his identity, there would be no change in the amount of danger by physical personation. NATURAL FOR BUSINESS MEN.

For the purpose of ascertaining the political make-up of their "house," some of the employes of the firm of Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale department in Chicago had a paper circulated the other day asking for signatures to the membership roll of a McKinley Commercial Men's Club.

There are approximately 1000 voters in the department. The paper was passed around with the consent of the management of the house, but with no coercion whatever to sign or not to sign, the test vote being burely an affair of the employes, who wished to secure only voluntary expressions from among their number. As a result of this test vote the poll showed:

AMONG THE BOXERS.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

SOME GOOD GOES PROMISED.

There is prospect of two good matches in the arena of the Los Angeles Athletic Club before the end of the present month. The much-talked-of go between Jack Jeffries and Jack Stelzner may be one of them. This go, however, is not assured, by reason of the fact that the principals demand of the club that a $500 guarantee be posted. Fights are uncertain drawing cards in Los Angeles, as the Athletic Club has learned by experience, and for this reason the management hesitates before taking on a contract that it may not be able to carry out with profit.

COURSING.

Collett, one third.

WHIRLS OF THE WHDEL.

Three speedy professionals, who were favorites at the Velodrome last winter, are now en route to Australia, where they expect to add to their list of victories and incidentally carry off some of the fat purses that are hung up on the island every sedson. They are John Chapman of Atlanta, Ferland of San Diego. These speedy men, and because of the fat purses that are hung of San Diego. These speedy men, have been spending the winter in Salt Lake, where they have been very successful. They take with them the fast motor that was used here last winter and also, a new one, that is said to be even. Faster, here vecancies in the ranks of the local wheelmen, caused by the departure of Harry C. Fowler, Charlie, Fuller and Leelie W. Jenkins. All are trick riders of considerable ability, and have gone to accept a forty-eight-week engagement on the eastern vaudeville, circuit. Jenkins and Fuller were given a week's engagement at the local Orpheum two weeks ago, and carried out their work well. Harry Fowler, better known as "Trilby," is one of the best all-around riders in the business. They go to join Sid Black, now in Cleveland.

It is rumored shat Jack Prince, who has been engaged to manage the Velodrome in this city the coming searon, has also secured the management of the new track at Chicago.

RACE MEET.

TWO GOOD EVENTS ASSURED.

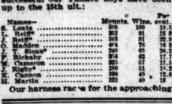

Two first-class races are assured for the race meet of the District Agricultural Association No. 4, which will open at Agricultural Park on the 20th list. The leading attraction will, as usual, be the free-for-all pace, in which five of the fastest side-wheelers in the country are entered.

Searchight, with a record of 2:03%: Anaconda, who has paced his mile in 2:025; Coney, with a record of 0ee-quarter of a second slower, are the takest

HIGALDO'S GOSSIP.

The English racing season is rapidly drawing to a close, and this ought to be known as "the American year." That was the title applied to 1881, when Iroquois won the Derby and St. Leger and the Grand Prix. Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire fell to the lot of W. Keene's Foxhall; and while we have not won any such classic events this year as we did in that one, we have won quite as much in money values and a far greater number of races. The biggest rake down in any one race of this year is that of James R. Keene, who won 'e 1850,000 Jookey Club stakes last Thursday with his fine colt, Disguise II. The conditions of this race impose penalties for winning the Derby or St. Loger or both, so that Diamond Jubilee, the Prince of Walee's colt, had to put up 184 pounds against 126 on Disguise, who had run third to him in the Derby. Last year Flying Fox put up his penalty and won this event, but Diamond Jubilee, who started favorite at 7 to 4, finished outside the money. Disguise is by Domino, the great two-year-old winner of 182, out of imported Bonnie Gal, by Galopin, from Bonnie Doon, by Rapid Rhone, from Queen Mary, one of the ten best mares in English history. So it is virtually a victory for the old Malton blood that won the Derby and St. Leger of 1864.

Mr. Corrigan has already won three races in one week and is likely to have something to say about the great autumn handicaps at Newmarket—the Cesarewitch of two and seven-eighths miles, and the Cambridgeshire, if not in the Jonger race. She has comparatively light weights to carry, and as his little mare. Sardonic, has won during the past week, she may be a formidable factor in the Cambridgeshire, if not in the Jonger race. She has won at a mile and a quarter and Mr. Corrigan evidently believes she can "go the route" or he would not have entered her in the Cesarewitch, which has already been twice won by American horses—Prioress in 1851 (after a triple dead heat with El Hakim and Queen Bess.) and by Foxhall in 1881. The Pesarrewitch generally is wort next morning he summoned his people. The following night they had sneaked into the basement and with the aid of a dark lantern were digging for the gold. The leader, an old man with snowy hair, sat in a corner of the basement and read passages from the Hible while the others dug and chanted and prayed. There was not much light, but the work went on rapidly. "Hark." said the old leader suddenly, "I t'inks I hear dem angels bussin'."

It was not angels this time, but posses ice. A tip had been given that the band was in the house, and a patrol wagon filled with men was sent to make a wholesale arrest. Every member of the band had to finish the night in the station house, and some went to the chain gang because they could not pay a fine for trespass.

Another house, which was put down in the haunted class, gave no end of trouble to the police, until the mystery was solved. Stories had been told and an light weird noises were heard. Finally the city detectives decided to solve the mystery. Late one night

SIGNAL CORPS SHOOT.

Testerday the Signal Corps held its second shet for State trophies at the range on the East Side. There are four of these shoots each year. These men who make an average of 45 points out of a possible 50, qualify as distinguished marksmen, and are entitled to a gold medal. An average of 40 wins a silver medal, with rating of sharpshooter, and 35 a bronze medal in the rifleman class.

The shooting was done with the Colt's 30-caliber army revolver at an ordinary military target fifty yards away, and was under the supervision of Maj. Last of the brigade staff.

There was a rather novel feature in this shoot. As fast as the men shot their scores were signaled by flags to Lookout Hill, and thence transmitted by hellograph to the brigade armory. Each Thursday night, after the regular drill, the corps has a smoker in the locker-room. The corps intends to entertain October 18 at an "at home."

It was also agreed that shoul B fall in any part of his agreement A should have the right to cancel the lease. B buys some farming tools of C, and plants the crop, giving as security a mortgage on three-fourths of the growing crop without the knowledge or consent of A. B then leaves the place and neglects it and it grows up with weeds so that there will be hardly any crop at all. B then writes C that he has given up the place and that he can have the tools back, and he sends them back to Q. The questions are: What right has C to the crop, if any? If he has any right will be have to take proper care of and harvest the crop, giving one-fourth to A? Has C any right to take back the tools and also claim three-fourths of the crop? Has A a perfect right to the whole crop by reason of B failing to live up to his part of the agreement? Or has A the right to take proper care of caring for and harvest it, giving to C three-fourths less the whole expenses of caring for and harvest it, giving to C three-fourths. less the whole expenses of caring for and harvest it, giving to C three-fourths less the whole expenses is wholly dischailed. Otherwise, he is only entitled to what remains after deducting the return value of the tools. LIMITATIONS.

F. B. C. asks: What is the statute of limitations for a regular charged account, for a note, for a judgment of sitter, and where can the record of a judgment be found?

Answer: The limitation on an account is two years. On a note four years, if made in the State, and two years if made out of the State. On judgments, five years. The records of a judgment, five years. The records of a judgment may be found in the office of the clerk of the court which rendered the judgment.

SAYING AND SEEING.

He was a little man so far as height goes, but possessed of a protuberant rotundity at the middle. Had he been rightly proportioned and of the same height, he would have probably weighed 100 pounds; as it was he weighed more nearly 200.

It was a dreary, foggy morning, and the poor fellow was unmistakably sleepy and tired. He had visen unusually early, and was now at the railroad station, awaiting the arrival of the steamer train from Port Los Angeles. Presumably, some of his friends were coming from San Francisco.

of the steamer train from Port Los Angeles. Presumably, some of his friends were coming from San Francisco.

He trudged up and down, and up and down the platform. His face showed signs of evident distress. Finally he walked toward the semaphore pole, and cautiously leaned the full weight of his stomach against it. Fresently a newspaper eargier arrived on the scene. He didn't seem to understand the situation. He took a wide circle around the pole, on his wheel at full tilt, and not quite comprehending he went around again. When he had recovered a safe distance, he dismounted from the wheel, inclined his head toward the semaphore pole, and inquired. "What is the matter, Dutchy?"

A pair of indignant eyes shot out a glance or two, and a gutteral voice replied: "Me was ein resht haben."

One on the Old Man.

Little Mabel's mamma believes that the greater part of a child's sducation should be derived from the work it does. Not that there should be no playtime, but that even the play should be made instructive whenever possible. Of course, she and Mabel differ somewhat on this point.

The little child is only 7. She makes up her own bed, and sweeps out her room quite contentedly: but when it comes to helping big sister wipe the dishes, that is quite a different mamma let her go and play with the neighboring children, thinking that she might forget the ache by so doing. The next night she again had the toothache; and the next, and the next, until at last the truth was only too apparent.

"Mabel," said her father, sternly, "there is nothing whatever the mat-until at last the truth was only too apparent.

"Mabel," said her father, sternly, "there is nothing whatever the matter with you. You are merely saying that you have the toothache to keep from doing work." The shame-faced little girl said nothing, but took up her task of wiping dishes.

A few nights after this her father had the toothache. Not the ordinary dull-thuk kind, that merely raises a swelling on one's cheek, and then leaves him, but the real old jump-as-it-pleases variety, that raises one up from a midnight bed to walk the floor in agony.

The next morning, as the tooth still ached, he called his partner up by phone, and explaining what the trouble was, informed him that he would not be at the office that day.

Judge of his surprise, when, as he hung up the receiver, Little Mabel confronted him, and said:

"You hasn't got the toothache at all. You is shamming. You is just saying so cause you doesn't want to go to work."
